

CURIOSITY CABINET

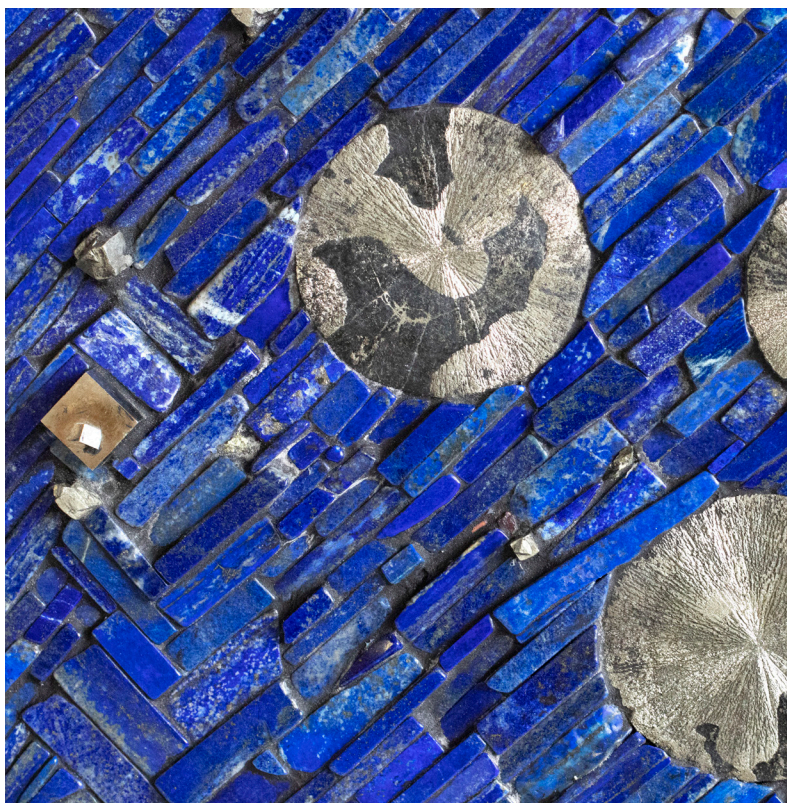

Curiosity Cabinet is a deeply personal, visceral journey into philosophical and aesthetic investigations through a vehicle of geological expressionism and the sublime.

A one-of-a-kind functional artwork, a sarcophagus for the convenience of liquor, made from reclaimed oak, precious gems and lost wax bronze, Curiosity Cabinet uses saturated colour and pattern to convey a cosmic reflection on the perception of time.

Each precious mineral is meticulously considered before being hand placed, like swirling brush strokes of a Secessionist painting. Designed to house spirits, the interior glows with inlaid quartz crystals set into sheets of solid brass, along with thick glass shelves.

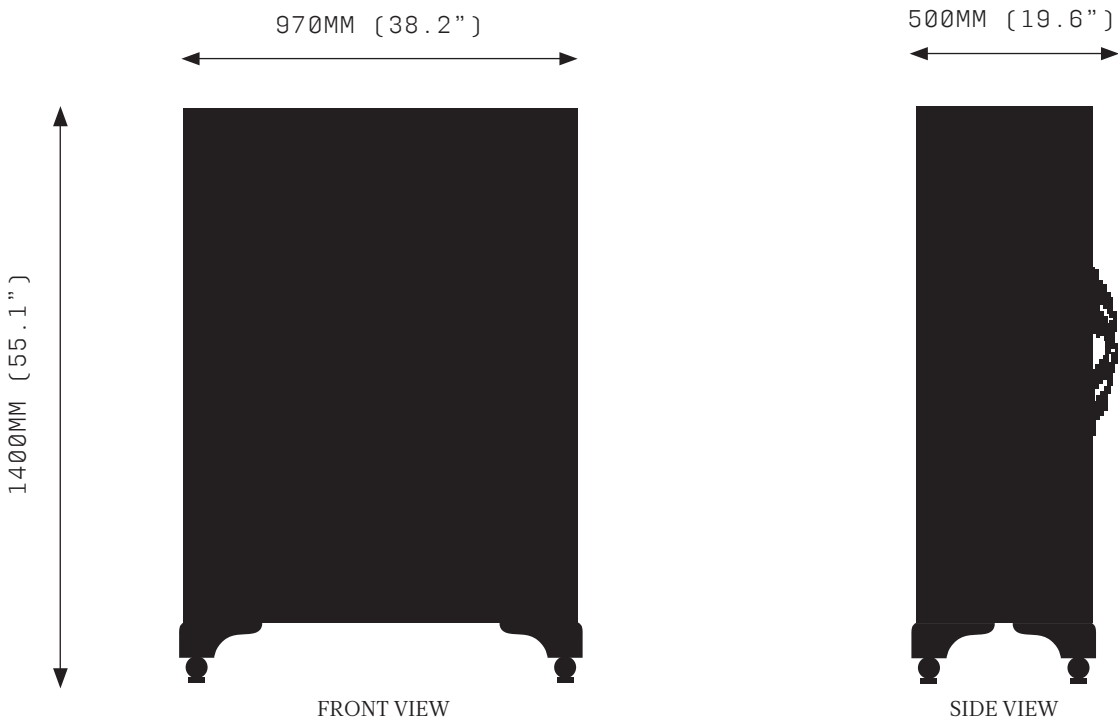

Materials: 1920's oak cabinet, lapis lazuli, pyrite, lost wax bronze, bornite, industrial diamonds, japan black resin, polished brass, glass.
